March 24 Snow Fly-In

Finally! After a number of cancellations due to weather, we finally got a day good enough to have a fly-in at the field. Temperature was just above 30 when I arrived early so I could test fly a couple of foamy planes I had built during March. As the morning progressed, winds picked up but it was never cold as we had nice sunshine much of the time. There was a crust on the snow but not enough to consistently support your weight. I know because I had to cross over to the next field to retrieve a plane that didn't fly as hoped!

A total of six of us attended the event, Chris, Roland, Bob, Ruslan, John and myself. Plenty of flying as I made a total of ten flights myself. In addition to the test flights of my foamies, I flew the LT-25 SIG on skis, Flying W, and my Valiant 10 on skis. Bob and Ruslan also had a chance to fly the Valiant. Chris flew his Cessna 150 on floats and Bob his Beaver on skis.

Bob started the grill to cook the onions about 11:00 and he cooked the hot dogs while Roland did the rolls.
Thanks, guys! Plenty of dogs served for lunch!

Bit more flying of the Valiant after lunch then we called it a day about 12:30. A nice day had by all!
